Future Dreams Pitching Camp with Denny Tincher: August 6-8

The Future Dreams Pitching Camp is designed for athletes who want to improve their pitching skills through Fluid Mechanics. Denny Tincher, father of Virginia Tech star and National Player of the Year Angela Tincher, will direct the camp and with Fluid Dynamics pitching, the emphasis will be on utilizing the female body in the way it was designed so that it can build energy from the ground upward and allow the free flow of energy from the legs to the fingertips. Pitchers will learn and improve on the bio-mechanics of pitching, how each body part contributes to the pitch and incorporate these lessons through drill work that improve accuracy and speed. Pitchers will also be given advanced instruction on finding the change up that works best for them, the screwball and the importance and development of a solid rise ball. Pitchers will also be introduced to Denny's "100 Days to Greatness" pitching program. Pitchers should provide their OWN catcher.
